A new Generation of AsperGenius® Multiplex real-time PCR tests

AsperGenius® 2.0 Species & AsperGenius® 2.0 Resistance TR

Aspergillus fumigatus and A. flavus are the most prevalent Aspergillus species causing invasive pulmonary aspergillosis.

The first line therapy in invasive aspergillosis relies on the usage of azole-based drugs. Since begin of this century an increase of azole-resistant A. fumigatus isolates is observed. The incidence of azole resistances ranges from 5% up to 20% between different years. The combination of point mutations on the cyp51A gene with a TR34 or TR46 mutation causes >99% of all azole resistances (UMC Utrecht)

AsperGenius® 2.0 Species Multiplex real-time PCR Kit

Detection and identification of A. fumigatus, A. flavus, A. terreus and Aspergillus species

50 reaction / kit

Art.-No. PN-101

AsperGenius® 2.0 Resistance TR Multiplex real-time PCR Kit

Identification of azole-resistance markers TR34, TR46 and cyp51A in A. fumigatus by normal real-time PCR detection

50 reactions / kit

Art.-No. PN-201

- PCR with enhanced fluorescence detection and a run time of approximately 1 hour
- Identical PCR protocol for both the Species and the Resistance TR multiplex assays

Targets and validated real-time instruments

Diagnostic specimens

- Bronchoalveolar (BAL) samples
- Serum and plasma samples

DNA Extractions

- NucliSENS easyMAG® (bioMerieux)
- QIAamp MiniElute Virus Spin kit (QIAGEN)

Quality

- Validated on clinical samples (BAL)
- Internal control included
- Positive control included
- Validated on EQA programs of QCMD
- CE-IVD certified
